

Pinello product family

A pull-out for every base unit

The contents of a unit are quite simply easier to access in pull-outs than they are on fixed shelves. That's why peka has just developed a whole new family of base unit pull-outs. It's called Pinello and it offers something for everyone. As well as the double-decker pull-outs for unit widths of 200 and 300 mm, there's a pull-out spice rack for 150-mm units, an extending towel rail, and pull-outs for baking trays and bread.

All the models impress with their stable and smooth sliding properties and soft, silent closing. A pull-out can be personalised with various add-ons. The extra shelf can be positioned anywhere, enabling up to four levels of storage and ensuring maximum use of the available space. With magnetic dividers or a bottle rack, the shelf space can be split up to suit the user's needs. Pinello also provides a range of design options: the pull-outs are available in white, silver and anthracite and can be customised with rails made of light oak or a material of the customer's choice.
