

Introducing the new Pleno Maxi larder unit pull-out

New Pleno Maxi delivers even more storage space

peka's handy larder unit just got even more efficient. The latest version of Pleno boasts a winning combination of more generous shelves and better use of vertical and horizontal space.

Pleno has always offered impressively easy access to the entire unit contents, no matter how high or how far back they are. It's all thanks to the special way the system works: when the door is opened, all the shelves glide out together so that all the unit's contents are displayed. In the Plus version, the upper shelves are also split between the door and the cabinet, meaning that even smaller users can reach any item stored in the unit quickly and comfortably.

Pleno Maxi too is available in Standard and Plus versions. While both obviously retain all the popular Pleno features, they also boast extra-large shelves that are wider and deeper than before, as well as making better use of the unit height. Last but not least, Pleno Maxi is now attached to only one of the side walls, and the same mechanism can be used whether it is mounted on the right or the left. This means that for the first time Pleno can be used to create a double unit without the need for a partition.

Users will continue to enjoy the pull-out's smooth movement, built-in Softopen and an unbeatable overview of the unit contents. The shelves provide perfect storage space for everything from small espresso cups to large pots. Pleno Maxi is also ideally suited to centralised food storage. Its Liro-design shelves offer all the advantages of peka's powder-coated sheet-steel shelves and can also be customised with rail inserts.
